

Technical drawing of a rectangular box with a lid, showing front, side, and top views. The drawing is composed of several lines representing the edges and contours of the box and its lid. The front view shows a rectangular box with a lid on top. The side view shows the box from the side, highlighting the lid's edge. The top view shows the lid from above, revealing a handle or latch mechanism on the right side. The drawing is a black and white line drawing, typical of technical illustrations.
